

When will the test wells for the geo-thermal heating and cooling system be drilled?

A single test production well will be drilled in Fairbank and another will be drilled in Readlyn. Drilling will start on April 13th. This process will help determine if geo-thermal heating and cooling is feasible and the type of system the geology of the building sites will support.